A quick note on loading and shooting the Carcano is in order at this point. This rifle is a Mannlicher-type clip fed internal magazine (as shown above). That is, you take a clip that holds 6 rounds, push it into the magazine until an internal latch grips it (as shown in Loading 1). As you work the bolt, the follower pushes the next round up for the bolt. The clip falls out of the magazine when the last round is chambered (as shown in Loading 2).
